

Congratulations to the Class of 2004

The purpose of this publication is to publicly commend the Class of 2004 on their outstanding VCE results published this week, and I do this most whole heartedly. These results are a great credit to each of you.

But ten or twenty years from now when we think of the Class of 2004 it will not be these VCE scores that we recall. We will recall how each of you committed yourself to doing your best, challenging yourself in each and every class and making the most of your God-given opportunities by combining talent with commitment.

But more importantly than that, our memories of you will be of the way that you reached out to each other and to other students and staff in the community. And we will recall your resilience, your gifts of laughter and your joy in music and dance, in painting and your passion for words in poetry and in prose.

These will be the things that we recall at the reunions years from now, but right now we commend you on wonderful VCE scores that will, we hope, open the right doors for you into the next chapter of your lives and results which will bring a glow of glory not only to each of you individually and to you as the Class of 2004, but to the entire school community. We will enjoy bathing in that glory in the next few weeks and hope you will too.
